Where is DVP located?DVP develops utility-scale solar PV and BESS projects across Europe and Latin America. DVP, headquartered in Seville, Spain, was established in and today has more than 75 employees based out of 6 locations with on the ground presence in Spain, Italy, France, Germany and Colombia. How many employees does DVP have?DVP, headquartered in Seville, Spain, was established in and today has more than 75 employees based out of 6 locations with on the ground presence in Spain, Italy, France, Germany and Colombia. DVP has a highly experienced management team with a long track-record within the solar and renewable finance industry. What does an energy storage expert do?Our energy storage experts work with manufacturers, utilities, project developers, communities and regulators to identify, evaluate, test and certify systems that will integrate seamlessly with today's grid, while planning for tomorrow. How will glentra support DVP?Our complementary skillsets, shared vision for the company, and its strengthened financial position will enable DVP to accelerate its development and scale, and Glentra is looking forward to actively supporting the company in executing its business plan". Eduardo Criado, Chief Executive Officer at DVP, added: "This is a pivotal moment for DVP. Why is energy storage important?The importance of energy storage cannot be overstated when considering the challenges of transitioning to a net-zero emissions world. Storage technologies offer an effective means to provide flexibility, economic energy trading, and resilience, which in turn enables much of the progress we need to make in power generation and grid management. DVP develops utility-scale solar and battery energy storage projects in Europe and Latin America. The Seville-based vehicle has originated and developed over 2 GW of projects mainly in Italy, France and Germany, and some in Spain and Colombia, the press releases said.
