Italy has taken a major step forward in its energy transition efforts, giving the green light to 361 MW of new battery energy storage systems (BESS) spread across three regions--Lazio, Puglia, and Sardinia. Italy's sun-drenched landscapes generate enough solar energy to power entire cities - until clouds roll in or nighttime hits. That's where Italian mobile energy storage suppliers come into play, acting like giant "energy shock absorbers" for the grid. With 650MW of new storage capacity added in H1 Italy has taken a major step forward in its energy transition efforts, giving the green light to 361 MW of new battery energy storage systems (BESS) spread across three regions--Lazio, Puglia, and Sardinia. This move underscores the country's growing commitment to grid resilience, energy Italy's new MACSE mechanism introduces long-term capacity contracts for battery storage - the first scheme of its kind in Europe. Across three auction rounds, MACSE aims to support up to 50 GWh of storage capacity. The first auction round is scheduled for the 30?? September and will: Procure The innovative tolling agreement signed between Zelestra and BKW enables the delivery of one of Europe's largest battery energy storage systems (BESS), of up to 2 GWh, in the north of Italy. Construction is due to start in , with full operations anticipated in . The agreement expands on BKW Italian Mobile Energy Storage Suppliers: Powering the Future of Italy's sun-drenched landscapes generate enough solar energy to power entire cities - until clouds roll in or nighttime hits.
